DISTURBING THE BRITISH CONSULATE. TWO BAD SHOTS BY A "PERSECUTED" IRISHMAN-

An Irishman, plainly dressed and carrying a small hand-satchel, at about 11 o'clock yesterday morning entered the office of the British Con-ul, at No. 27 State-st., and inquired whether there was an English Consulate in Buffalo. W. R. Hoare, the second Vice-Consul, who was seated at his desk in the rear of the office, replied in the negative. The man remained silent for a few minutes, and then he shouted that he had been grossly libelled in the papers of this city at the instigation of the British Government. For this, he said, he wanted revenge, and he would secure it if he had to cross the Atlantic and blow up Dublin Castle. Upon second thought, however, he said that he would avenge his wrongs by shooting the whole lot in the British Consulate. He then moved toward the door, and drawing a five-chambered revolver he discharged it, apparently without taking aim, and the builet buried itself in a slight wooden partition behind which Vice-Consul Hoare sat. Having fired the shot, the man ran out of the place, discharging another cartridge in the hall without doing any damage. THE STORY OF HIS WRONGS.

The man was shortly afterward arrested by Officer John H. Carr, of the First Precinct, who took him to the Oak Street Police Station. He described himsef as James A. Feeney, age twenty-six a coach painter. He was born in Ireland, he said, and on the previous day he had arrived in this city from Buffalo, with the intention of going to his native place. A glance at the man was sufficient to show that he was crazy. He had large jaws, unusually prominent cheek-bones, sunken cheeks, glassy eyes that glared searchingly at every one about nim as though apprehensive of danger. In the afternoon he was taken to the fombs Police Court, where David E. Oak, ir., a clerk in the Consulate, made an affidavit charging him with felonious assault. When arraigned at the bar, he said: "I went to that place in search of the villains who had accused me of crime." Then, requesting the indulgence of the Court, he began a with harangue. "These man," he said with a flourish of the hand, "have been persecuting me and blasphening me by having published stories against my character. They accused me of complicity in the Phoenix Park murders, and not content with incarcerating me at Dublin they rearrested me in Toronto. But they failed in that, and when I came to this country they continued to blast my character. They have dooged me about and kidnapped me." Justice Smith asked why he fired the shot. "I decline to answer that," he said. "If you will let me make an explanation, I'l do so." He was committed in default of $1,000 bail for trial in the General Sessions Court.

In the prison afterward he told the following story:

"I was arrested in Dublin without cause, and spent nine weeks in the Dublin Jail at Kiimainham. I was taken in custody for no cause whatever, and while under dures. Murphy, the Quen's counsel, visited me and profiered me £500 if I would make certain statements. I indicanative refused the offer, and when subsequently I was asked for a consideration to recognize James Mullett, who was also imprisoned in that dungeon as a suspect, I also declined, and sent a letter to Mullett's wife, telling her of the overtures that had been made to me. My action came to the knowledge of the office of the prison, and one might I was conducted to a stage coach, locked in, and conveyed to Liverpool, where I was placed on board the steamship Circassia and landed at Toffouto. There I was compelled to enter a hospital for treatment, and was placed in an insane ward. On the day that that brave boy Joe' Brady was hanged my feelings of course from the Reepers, who had taken offence at my remarks. I was cuprured and placed in jail, but the clerry employed counsel for me and I secured my liberation. Five weeks ago I went to Buffalo. The tribulation I have endured, I confess, have weakened my mind—they would unsettle any one's mtellec. Friends of mine in Baffalo advised me to dismiss the matter from my mind, but I could not. I was troubled with loss of appetite and sleeplessness, and on Monday moroning I came to this city for the purpose of endeavoring to get my passage to Dublin. for the purpose of endeavoring to get my passage to Publin. Yesterday morning I went to the British Cou-

Officer Carr, who arrested Freney, said that he found him walking in the Battery Ps. k, opposite the Consulate, watching the building. When arrested he appeared to be laboring under great excitement. He went to the station without reastance and there gave up his pistol. It was a cheap affair of about 22-ca ibre, with the word "Defender" on its barrel, but not the maker's name.

Drake, Joseph W. Howe and F. R. Surgis.

The factions have been quiet during the summer and little was done except by the thoroughly organized conservatives who kept their piedge in circulation throughout the State in preparation for the meeting of the State Society in February, and secured about 2,000 signatures. Their list exceeds greatly that of the liberals. The contest in the County Society will be an interesting one from the fact that it will be the first occasion on which the factions in this city will meet fairly for a light. The last time the question came up the conservatives, so the liberals say, took snap judgment on their opponents and elected O'd Code delegates to the State Society, although previous votes and canvasses had shown that two-thirds of the members of the County Society were adherents of the New Code.

The price paid for it was $1,200,000, of which $760,000 is covered by existing moregages. The property was owned a few years ago! by Edward Matthews, but passed by foreclosure into the control of the Charter Oak Life Insurance Company. It has a frontage of eignty-three feet in Broadway, and extends 226 feet in Rector-st, to New-Church-st. The building is well-known because of the entrance through it to the Rector-st, station of the Sixth Avenue Elevated Railroad. The Union Trust Company occupies the street side of the first floor. One flight above are the offices of Jay Gould and Russell Sage and the general offices of the Manhattan Railway Company. The rents of the property amount to $105,000 a year, but the new owners expect to receive from it in a short time a much larger sum.

VIOLATING THE BUILDING LAW.

ALDERMAN MICHAEL DUFFY IN TROUBLE. BAY-WINDOWS ILLEGALLY BUILT—INSPECTOR ESTER-

BROOK AND COUNSEL FINDLEY AT ODDS.

Notices have been sent out from the Bureau of Buildings directing the owners of four dwelling houses on the southwest corner of Fourth-ave, and Seventy-seventh-st. to "remove violations of the law." Two reports on the subject, one made by Mr. Findley, the attorney of the Fire Department, and the other by Inspector Esterbrook, were read by the Fire Commissioners last week and were referred to Commissioner Purroy for investigation. It is charged that the violations of law were committed by Alderman Michael Duffy, and that in the prosecution of a compliant emanating from the Bureau of Buildings Mr. Findley has not complied with an important rule of the department. BROOK AND COUNSEL FINDLEY AT ODDS.

Findley has not complied with an important rule of the department.

Plans for the erection of the four dwelling-houses were alled at the Bureau of Buildings by Mr. Duffy in May, 1852. The specifications, which were approved by Inspector Esterbrook, showed that the rear walls of the houses were to be plain, without projections. Mr. Duffy afterward altered the plans without informing Mr. Esterbrook, and concluded to build bay-windows in the rear on the first and second stories. The openings for these windows were twelve feet wide on the first floor and ten feet wide on the first floor and ten feet wide on the second floor, and the projecting wall above each window was supported on wooden gircers contrary to the provisions of the Building law, which require iron girders in such cases. When the violation was discovered and reported by an examiner of the bureau, a notice was served on Mr. Duffy, who, after some delay, consented to amend the planes so as to comply with the law. He went on, however, and finished the buildings in violation of the law and the case was referred to Mr. Finishey for the "removal of the violations" and the collection of the penalty. Mr. Esterbrook was importuned to "let up" on Mr. Duffy, but he refused.

Mr. Findley carried the case to the courts, but he sued only for the coll-ction of the penalty. Recently he reported to the Fire Commissioners that judgment had been obtained against Mr. Duffy, and that the Court had decided that the Bureau of Buildings had the right to insist on the substitution of iron girders for wooden girders in the houses. Mr. Findley wrote that he did not know whether Mr. Esterbrook desired to proceed any further in the case, but he suggested that new notices could be bisned if it was desired to proceed any further in the case, but he suggested that new notices could be the requested to sue for the fact that Mr. Findley had been requested to sue for the fact that Mr. Findley had been requested to sue for the "removal of the violations" is to be considered by the Comm the department.

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HALL'S HAIR

The great popularity of this preparation, after its many years of test, should be an assurance, even to the most skeptical, that it is really meritorious. Those who have It is really meritorious. Those who have used Hall's Hair Renewer know that used HALL'S HAIR RENEWER know that it does all that is claimed.

It causes new growth of hair on bald heads—provided the hair follieles are not dead, which is seldom the case; restores natural color to gray or faded hair; preserves the scalp healthful and clear of dandruff; prevents the hair falling off or changing color; keeps it soft, pliant, fustrous, and causes it to grow long and thick.

Hall's Hair Renewen produces its effects by the healthful influence of its vegetable ingredients, which invigorate and rejuvenate. It is not a dye, and is a delightful article for toilet use. Containing no alcohol, it does not evap-orate quickly and dry up the natural oil, leaving the hair harsh and brittle, as do other preparations.
